Madam:

Good day.

We respectfully write to request permission to conduct our data gathering ahead of the schedule indicated in your recent communication. As stated in your email, data collection is only permitted after the teachers' break, from April 1 to May 1.

However, we would like to humbly explain that our research timeline does not allow us to gather data after May 1, as our final defense is scheduled within the same month. Conducting data collection within that limited timeframe may significantly affect the quality and completion of our study.

In this regard, we are kindly requesting your consideration to allow us to conduct our survey in advance, prior to April 1. Alternatively, if face-to-face data gathering is not feasible, we would like to seek permission to distribute our survey through an online platform (e.g., Google Forms), which teachers may answer at their convenience during the break period.

We assure you that all data collected will be handled with utmost confidentiality and will be used strictly for academic purposes only. We are also willing to comply with any additional requirements or conditions your office may impose.

We sincerely hope for your kind consideration and approval of our request. Thank you very much for your time and support.
